

‘Who we are and what we do’ in seven community languages

Following a review of the Disability Rights Commission’s work to reach Black and Minority Ethnic communities, the DRC’s Campaigns and Marketing Team has just published a revised edition of the publication ‘Who we are and what we do’ in seven community languages; Arabic, Chinese, Bengali, Punjabi, Urdu, Gujarati and Polish.

These are now available as a download from the DRC website:

The DRC’s eight Employment Factsheets (available online and from their helpline) will also be available online in community languages later this month. These cover:

- Who has Rights under the DDA?
- What are reasonable adjustments?
- Health and Safety
- Discipline and Dismissal
- Pensions
- Sick Leave, Sick Pay and Medical Appointments
- Redundancy
- Getting into Work – My Rights.
