

Website: Disability Toolkit

The Children's Society

To keep you up-to-date with new resources, research and policy, The Children's Society have developed a new website that provides all the resources, information and support needed to ensure young people's views, wishes and feelings are heard.

The Children's Society has an established history working with disabled children and young people, so they understand participation priorities and the Disability Toolkit can help with working towards targets.

www.disabilitytoolkit.org.uk